

Notre Dame College
Required Information
Documentation of Learning Disabilities

In order for students with Learning Disabilities to receive academic accommodations from Notre Dame College, documentation that meets state and federal standards indicating the presence of a Learning Disability is required. The student should contact their former high school, school psychologist, private psychologist or medical doctor to arrange to have copies of one of the following submitted to Jeanne Marie Christian, Director Dwyer Learning Center:

BOTH:

_____1. An Individual Education Plan (IEP) from Grade 12 identifying the student as being served for a specific learning disability.

_____2. A Multi-Factored Psychoeducational Assessment completed by a psychologist or school psychologist during Grades 10, 11, or 12. This assessment must indicate that the student has a diagnosed Learning Disability and is receiving services for the disability. Please see the Guidelines for Documentation of Specific Learning Disabilities for more information regarding the Psychoeducational Assessment.

OR:

_____3. Students who do not have Learning Disability documentation from high school may submit data from a Psychoeducational Assessment with a private psychologist or school psychologist, stating the presence of a specific Learning Disability.
